Your 2014 RRSP/PRPP Deduction Limit Statement

RRSP/PRPP deduction limit for 2014 – Amount (A) is the maximum amount you can deduct on your 2014 return for:

- your unused RRSP/PRPP contributions (amount B) that are available for 2014; and
- RRSP/PRPP contributions you make from March 4, 2014, to March 2, 2015.

Note that this maximum amount that you can deduct is over and above any deduction you can claim for certain eligible income that you transfer to an RRSP/PRPP.

Unused RRSP/PRPP contributions – Amount (B) is your unused RRSP/PRPP contributions at the end of 2013 that are available for 2014. You either could not deduct this amount, or you chose not to deduct it on a previous-year return. Report amount (B) on line 1 of your 2014 Schedule 7.

Tax on RRSP/PRPP excess contributions – You may have to pay a tax of 1% per month on RRSP/PRPP excess contributions if your unused RRSP/PRPP contributions (amount B) plus any additional contributions you may make from March 4, 2014, to December 31, 2014, exceed your RRSP/PRPP deduction limit for 2014 (amount A). If you have RRSP/PRPP excess contributions, see "Tax on RRSP/PRPP excess contributions" in Chapter 2 of Guide T4040, RRSPs and Other Registered Plans for Retirement.

Additional information – For more information about RRSP/PRPPs, including how we determine your RRSP/PRPP deduction limit, see Guide T4040, RRSPs and Other Registered Plans for Retirement.

Explanation of changes and other important information

Thank you for filing your income tax return. This notice explains the results of our assessment and any changes we may have made. Please refer to the "Summary" area for additional information. Keep this notice for your records.

Our assessment of your return resulted in a balance due. If you have paid this balance, please disregard this request for payment. If you have not paid this balance, you can avoid additional interest charges by paying the full amount by June 04, 2014.

Your balance owing includes arrears interest which is compounded daily at a prescribed rate. We have calculated this interest from the due date of your balance to the date of this notice.
