Improved reporting has been an ongoing initiative within the investment industry. We want to bring to your attention new disclosures that will appear on your 2016 year-end statement. There are no changes to your investments or your investment costs. What's new is information on both your investments' personalized rate of return and the dollar costs associated with those investments. This enhanced disclosure will help you better gauge two of the most important factors in investing – performance and fees. In your last statement we highlighted the value of advice and the positive impact on investment growth - advised clients have significantly more assets than non-advised clients the longer they receive advice.* For your reference, we have enclosed an insert that highlights the new reporting requirements. We encourage you to contact your representative should you have any questions.
